Reflecting on Ethical Misconceptions

In this application exercise, we will:
• Reflect on any changes in thinking that occurred during this lesson.
• Think about ways to help others break down the misconceptions around business ethics.
• Identify ways to help your organization with this information.

Questions

1. Did you think any of the misconceptions covered in this lesson article were true before you started?
2. How has your thinking changed over the course of this lesson?
3. Does anyone you know have these same misconceptions?
4. How can you help clear these misconceptions up?
5. How can you help your organization learn about the misconceptions around business ethics and help break them down?